Much Discussion Over Application For Permit To Build Sewerage Shop And Gas Station At Top Of Palmer's Hill — Business Light.

Only one item of real importance came before Town Council in monthly session last night. A great amount of small stuff and routine matters were dealt with.

Much discussion took place when Messrs. Lampman and Schier, who conduct a welding business on Main west appeared before council and requested permission to erect a welding shop and eventually a service station on the property at the top of Palmer's hill, at the junction of Main street and Livingston avenue. They produced an option to purchase the property from Arthur Hewson. While they submitted no plans of a building or its cost, they stated that the property would be 25 feet wide and 160 feet long.

An eight or nine foot strip would be left between their property and the Livingston avenue street line, the town now owning it.

The question was discussed pro and con from every conceivable angle and it was finally left for (Continued on page 8)

Township Council Not Overburdened

Will Request Department Of Highways To Appoint Examiner And Issuer Of Motor Vehicle Licenses.

North Grimsby council was not overburdened with business at the June session on Saturday afternoon.

Council first sat as a Court of Revision on the 1945 assessment roll. There was only one appeal entered and this was not allowed. The roll was confirmed by the Court.

Assessor Gordon Metcalfe was allowed an extra $50 salary for extra work performed.

George Mould was appointed Fruit Pests Inspector at 50 cents an hour, which is an increase of 10 cents.

A building permit was granted to Dalton Pretz for the erection of a new bungalow on Baker's Road. Mrs. Violet Burton of the Women's Institute wrote council thanking them for the donation to the Jam for Britain Fund.

Councillor Aikens had the following motion passed: "That this council direct the Clerk to write the Minister of Highways, regarding the appointment of an Examiner of Motor Vehicle Operators, in West Lincoln; also an issuer of Motor Vehicle Licenses."

Fruit By Air

(From "The New York Packer" June 2nd, 1945)

Joplin, Mo., June 1.—As a forerunner of what is to be in the post-war air age, 14 crates of fancy Ozark strawberries, picked Monday morning from Sarcoux fields, were taken on an epic flight the same day from Joplin to Chicago in time for marketing in the late afternoon.

They left the municipal airport by air freight on an American Airlines flagship at 11.30 a.m. and reached Chicago at 3.20 p.m., in time to be sold to Chicago loop shoppers going home from work.

The berries were consigned to the Stop and Shop, an exclusive food market in down-town Chicago.

Ceiling price on the berries in Chicago is 54c a quart, as compared with 36c paid to growers by the Missouri Fruit Exchange at Neosho, which handled the initial air shipment. W. W. Stephens of Neosho is secretary of the Exchange. The Sarcoux Horticultural Association was instrumental, too, in arranging the shipment. The 14 crates of fruit weighed approximately 550 pounds, and air freight to Chicago is approximately 10c a pound. O.P.A. ceiling regulations place a 20-ounce standard for quarts of strawberries. The freight bill amounted to about 16c a quart.

Alex Parsons, local manager for American Airlines, assisted in planning the Chicago shipment, and he said Flight 70, which picked up the fruit, would fly at about 7,000 feet, insuring a cool ride for the freshly-picked berries. They were loaded in the rear cargo compartment of the passenger liner, and had no refrigeration.

Bill Green, secretary of the Sarcoux Association, who witnessed the takeoff of the plane, said an interesting sidelight is that the Sarcoux Association is the oldest strawberry cooperative in the country and that it made the first shipment of commercial strawberries to an eastern market more than 70 years ago, sending them by cattle car.

VANDALS ARE LOOSE AGAIN

Visit St. Andrew's Churchyard Sometime Monday Night And Overturn One Large Stone And Make Attempt On Second One — If Apprehended Will Be Prosecuted.

The desecration of God's Own Acre has again occurred in Grimsby.

Sometime between nine o'clock Monday night and Tuesday morning vandals visited St. Andrew's churchyard and turned a large tombstone completely over and made an attempt to do so with a second stone, but were unsuccessful. In order to accomplish their heathenish purpose they first broke a section of the iron railing off one of the guard rails that surround some of the old time graves. Using this piece of iron as a pry they upset the one stone and evidence shows that they made the same attempt on a second stone.

Rev. A. E. Brooks, Rector of St. Andrew's was in the churchyard between eight and nine o'clock on Monday night and no damage was perceptible at that time. When he visited the burial spot on Tuesday morning he found the work of the vandals.

Police are making an intensive investigation into this piece of nefarious destruction and the culprits if found will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Ken's father, Major Percy Fairbank was awarded the Canadian Efficiency Decoration last March. He also served four years in World War 1, and was then awarded the Military Medal and bar.

Major Fairbank was the first man of this district to report for duty in this war, when as assistant adjutant he reported on Aug. 26th, 1939 to mobilize the Lincoln and Welland Regt. for guard duty on the Welland canal. "They didn't have any time to look after us. They were so anxious to get over the Oder river and on to Berlin that they just turned us loose on the highway and told us what direction to start walking." Sapper Morley F. Robinson, of Grimsby, one of the first Canadians released by the spearhead of the Russian army in its dash to the German capital, said on his return home on Sunday.

Member of a prisoner of war working party on a farm near Woldenberg, Germany, Sapper Robinson said they could hear the Russian guns for several days and knew they were advancing. "The only desire of our guards—all Nazi soldiers—was to get away from the Russians," he said. "They tried to get us away with them, but we talked them out of that and they just left us there." First question the Russians asked when they arrived was "How far is it to Berlin?" (Continued on page 7)

PEOPLE POLL RECORD VOTE

County Has Been In Conservative Column Since 1900 — Late Senator Gibson Of Beamsville Was Last Liberal Member — Grimsby Made Complete Turn Over — Township Increased Lockhart Majority By 99 — Candidates Lose Deposits.

N. J. M. Lockhart was re-elected in Lincoln county Monday night with a plurality of 4,751 over his nearest contestant, the Liberal candidate, Lieut. Col. E. Frank McCordick.

This is Mr. Lockhart's third term of office, having won the seat first in 1935. He was re-elected in 1940 and again Monday. Had he been defeated it would have been the first Liberal victory in this riding since 1896 when the late William Gibson of Beamsville was re-elected. In 1900 the late E. A. Lancaster, Conservative, took the county and it has remained Conservative ever since.

Mr. Lockhart's plurality in this election was the largest in his three wins. In 1935 he obtained 263 more votes than A. E. Coombs and in 1940 increased this to a 295 plurality over J. J. Bench.

Monday a new record was established for the number of voters going to the polls, when 1,966 more persons cast ballots than in 1940 when a record was established. However, the percentage of voters was not as great as in 1940 when 75.16 of those eligible exercised their franchises compared with only 71.69% Monday. The figures for this election are slightly better (Continued from page 7)

Christmas Boxes Were A Bit Late

Grimsby Boy On Cruiser Uganda In The Pacific Received His On April 22nd.

Petty Officer Douglas Brignull, son of George and Mrs. Brignull, of Hamilton, former Grimsby residents, in writing to his mother states that his cruiser the Uganda, now in the Pacific, had been so close to some of the islands that the boys could see the huts and watch the movements of the natives.

P.O. Brignull, no doubt received a Christmas box from home but would receive it a little late according to the following statement released last week by the Naval Department in Ottawa:

"Christmas mail followed men of the Canadian Cruiser Uganda 25,000 miles to the Pacific before it was received April 22, a naval release disclosed tonight. The mail arrived in good condition. Some sailors found chocolates had melted in the tropical heat but others, whose parcels were better packed received candy fresh and intact."

Another son, Sergt. Leslie Brignull, who went overseas in 1939, is expected home shortly. At last writing he was still in Germany.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES

A perusal of the provincial election figures for Lincoln, bring to light many interesting facts. Last week we noted the fact that Buchanan polled exactly the same number of votes at the Park school—94—as Haines did in 1943, in a smaller total vote poll.

In the city of St. Catharines and the County of Lincoln there were 43,522 names on the lists, of which 31,049 were polled, or 71.3 per cent, an increase of 10 per cent over the provincial contest of 1943. In Grimsby there were 1767 names on the list and 1149 voters went to the polls, 65.02 per cent; in North Grimsby there were 979 votes cast out of a possible 1776, or 55.12 per cent; Beamsville citizens polled 674 votes out of 1002, or 67.26 per cent. It remained for South Grimsby to create a record. The residents of that municipality cast 826 votes out of a possible 905, or 91.27 per cent.

Daley had a majority in every municipality except Gainsboro where Buchanan had a majority of 76 as against a majority of 127 for Haines last time; Caistor township gave Buchanan a majority of 120, whereas Haines only had 77. South Grimsby created another record. For the first time in either provincial or federal election history our neighbor to the south rolled up a Tory majority for Daley of 85, every polling sub-division giving him a lead.

FACTS & FANCIES

WHAT WILL A NICKEL BUY?

There was a time—and not too long ago—when the smallest Canadian coin had a definite value all its own and a nickel was sufficient to satisfy childhood's desires. There was, according to myth and legend, even a five-cent cigar although it was not good.

Now—any fond parent who tries to impress his four-year-old offspring with the value of money can be stumped every time with the question: "What will a nickel buy, Daddy?" There just isn't any answer except to suggest that the nickel will fit the slot in the mission bank. The penny, the nickel and the dime are no longer a yardstick of value for the child because the things they used to buy have been taxed out of the five-cent class if they are available at all.

Nor is the child the only one affected. Adults still pay three cents for their daily paper but they cannot help but be aware that to the price of many things they must buy something more has been added—something officially known as an excise tax, inaccurately referred to as a luxury tax and correctly regarded as a nuisance tax.

In recent weeks some of these special wartime nuisance taxes have been removed but many still remain. It will be a big day on the way back to economic normality when the five-cent piece is once again sufficient to buy a bottle of soft drink, a chocolate bar or a package of gum. It would be good finance and good politics to bring the nickel back to par.

The most famous remark of Vice-President Thomas R. Marshall was: "What this country needs is a good five-cent cigar." This was later amended by Franklin P. Adams to read: "What this country needs is a good five-cent nickel."

SEAMANSHIP

Whatever the criticism may have been about the building by Britain of the two great luxury liners, the Queen Mary and the Queen Elizabeth at enormous cost, it is now revealed that these two mammoth boats were worth their weight in gold during the war. They carried 320,000 American soldiers safely across the Atlantic. They ran without escort, speed proving the winning factor against the U-boats. On one trip the Queen Elizabeth out ran a pack of 50 German undersea wolves. An official report has just been issued by Brigadier Sewell from New York, which forms an epic story of British seamanship.

Over 30,000 British seamen lost their lives and nearly 4,000 were taken prisoner. With a tonnage of 17,500,000 at the start of the war, Britain lost two thirds of it in four years. At one time, sinkings far exceeded replacements. There have been stories that the Queen Mary was hit by torpedoes. They have not been confirmed, but one story is to the effect that she took two and still made the run, at very slightly reduced speed, into New York.

The Canadian merchant seamen do not share in the grant of gratuities which the armed service personnel receive. It is considered an injustice. These men were surely on the fighting line, if ever men were.

Take that run to Murmansk as one example. It is not generally known, either, that the minute a seaman steps off his sinking ship into a lifeboat, his pay stops. And it doesn't start again until he signs on another ship, if he is fortunate enough to survive the tempest.

Britannia rules the waves all right but Britain reaches out to every part of the world for seamen, Lascars, Arabs and Chinese, to mention just a trio of nationalities. Thievery aboard troop ships during the war, it is reported, was at a very minimum, but when a ship tied up at Alexandria the closest watch had to be kept, even on the anchor.

There is no nation in the world yet which can produce the seamanship and the officer discipline to run ships as can Britain. Never were traditions lived up to so well as in this war.

MEMORIES OF OLD LIVERPOOL

(By Lewis Milligan)

I have before me an aerial photograph of what was once the commercial centre of the City of Liverpool, England, but which is now a levelled waste of rubble, the result of German frightfulness. I was born in that great seaport on the River Mersey, and I knew every street and corner of it. I spent my boyhood in its suburban outskirts, attending school at Tue Brook and Anfield. I have wandered over the countryside of West Derby, Aintree, Knotty Ash, Broadgreen, Woolton and Alburgh. Many a happy day in spring and summer have I spent on the broad and beautiful estates of the Earl of Derby and the Earl of Sefton. I doubt if those peers of the British Realm ever got as much real pleasure and inspiration out of their fine mansions and broad acres as I did in those carefree rambles over their estates.

Many a morning have I seen the lark rise singing from its nest in the field, slowly mounting higher and higher until it was lost to sight in the blue, and I have lain on my back to search for it, listening in boyish ecstasy to its rapturous song. There is nothing this side of heaven so enthralling as the song of the lark broadcast from the skies in a continuous chain of melody over an English countryside. Many a time have I loitered beneath a garden wall, overhung with the dripping gold of the laburnum, and listened to the mellow notes of the thrush at sunset after a day of rain. Many times have I searched for birds' nests and fondled the delicate blue or dappled brown, warm eggs, replacing them gently as I wondered at the craftsmanship of those little homes in the hedges of old England.

But that was long ago, and before the First Great War. Those were the "piping times of peace," when the poets of England sang as melodiously as the birds, and when even the poor of England were for the most part happy in the midst of their toil and domestic vicissitudes. There were periods of unemployment and periods of prosperity. If there had been no hard times in Britain the populations of Canada, Australia and New Zealand would have been much smaller than they are today. But the great mass of the English people clung to their homes and old associations. The workmen took a serious interest in politics and in labor movements, but they did not allow the "social problems" to interfere with their interest in sports. Football (soccer) was a ruling passion with the masses. They looked forward to the games on Saturday afternoons when they would walk in throngs to the professional games, rain or shine, and spend a couple of hours in lusty enthusiasm and shouting in the open air.

Then there were the bank holidays when entire families would crowd the ferry boats plying across the river to Seacombe, Egremont and New Brighton, while droves of cyclists would take the highways to Chester and as far as Wales. Other trippers would take the boats to the Isle of Man or Llandudno, or if they preferred to go inland, they would entrain for points in the Midlands or the Windermere lakes. Those people would pack more healthy enjoyment into one day than the wealthier pleasure-seekers could find in their long vacations.

These are just a few of the happy memories that are conjured up by this aerial photograph of the devastated heart of Liverpool. The street cars are still running on Lord Street and Castle street, but the buildings on either side have disappeared as though they had never been. The Victorian era, with all that it represents in peaceful progress and democratic freedom, still remains as a glorious and happy memory with the British people. And it endures as an example which we might well follow and improve upon in the era of peace that now lies before us. National unity, governmental stability, freedom, enterprise and progress—all these characterized the Victorian Era, and the greatest of these is Freedom.

DISTRIBUTION OF PORK

7 Blake St.,
Hamilton, Ont.
June 8th, 1945.

Grimsby Independent,
Grimsby, Ont.
Dear Mr. Livingston:

While we of Canada are sacrificing many of the luxuries of life, and are being rationed for many of the necessities, all loyal Canadians should help as much as possible with "constructive criticism."

Now, here is a thought that might simplify the rapid and thorough distribution of pork, for instance, in European countries. Instead of shipping our choice bacon and other pork products to Europe, why not ship the live porkers over and turn them loose on the fields of Europe. They could root amidst the battlefields and clear them of the threat of "booby traps," which seems to be the chief hold-up in the matter of agricultural pursuits just now. Every time a porker nosed out a mine, it would, of course, explode. Thus two essential services would be accomplished—the destruction of a hidden mine or trap, and the wider distribution of pork. Don't you think this is a good idea?

If there are any prizes being offered for "helpful suggestions," the writer believes this one merits one of three such prizes.

Helpfully yours,
G. W. Echlin.

'WAY BACK WHEN

Frank Fairborn, Jr.

IN THE DAYS WHEN ELECTRICITY WAS BOUGHT BY WEIGHT

When Edison opened the Pearl Street Station in New York in 1882, he faced the serious problem of current measurement. The arc-light people had been giving their customers a flat weekly rate for the use of each light. Edison couldn't do this because his incandescents were so small and were used so intermittently. He needed an accurate meter that would register the total electric power used by each customer in a given period.

In those days the modern unit of power—the kilowatt-hour—had not been devised. Nor were there instruments of any sort except the cumbersome Wheatstone bridge and galvanometer. Edison therefore had to devise a system of his own or let his customers have their current free.

The problem was difficult because the meter had to be dependable and cheap and very accurate. If it were not the customers were sure to howl. His solution was typically Edisonian in its simplicity. He would use the time-honored principle of electroplating, in which a known weight of metal was transferred from positive to negative plate by each ampere of current in a given time.

Electrolytic meters appeared in the United States by the thousands. Each Edison company had a regular meter crew that went around collecting the plates once a month, taking them back to headquarters to be weighed, and so computing by a formula what quantity of electricity each customer had used. This operation had to be extremely accurate, since the monthly change in weight amounted to only a few thousandths of an ounce.

For seven years the public accepted this clumsy system of admitting the electric light man to "weigh the bill" every month and did not realize how crude it was. Electricity had brought such magic anyway that the electrolytic meter was considered one of the marvels of the age, creating more humor than hardship. But when the electric motor began to invade the country the situation was quickly changed. Large quantities of power could not easily be measured by Edison's invention. The only alternative was the flat-rate method, which was fair neither to the customers nor to the power company.

During his work with trolley-car motors Professors Thomson came to the conclusion that a simple mechanical meter must be devised—a meter such as the gas companies used, that registered the total of the commodity consumed on dials that could be read direct. The electrical trade was clamoring for such an instrument. Accordingly, about 1889 he attacked the problem. The general solution was in his mind when he began. The essence of the invention lay in the expert handling of the details.

The principle, which seemed to him obvious but had escaped everyone else, was that of a tiny electric motor connected into the circuit to be measured. The power to drive it would be nearly zero, but not quite, and always proportional to the main power being consumed. The shaft of the motor would operate a train of dials for registering the total energy that had gone through the circuit.

Though it sounds complicated to one who is unfamiliar with the interaction of electrical forces, the Thomson "recording watt-meter" was in fact so simple in principle as to be an insult to all who had failed to discover it before. Actually Ayton and Perry in England had tried the motor principle without success, mainly because they could not attain the delicacy necessary to make the instrument accurate.

GRANPA'S NAPKIN

There was honest reason for it, though I viewed it with a grin. And wondered oft why grandpa tucked his napkin 'neath his chin. Though the father and the mother more them loosely on their knees, Grandpa's napkin filled his collar just as snugly as you please.

It stayed just beneath his whiskers and it billowed on his chest. Why he always wore it that way, as a boy, I never guessed. Once I questioned him about it. I remember his reply: "When you've lived as long as I have you will know the reason why."

There was honest reason for it, and to-day I know it well. Spots of gray ruin neckwear, front of shirt and coat lapel. When your hair is turning silver little, careless ways begin; Yes, my dears, that's why your grandpa wears his napkin 'neath his chin.

Brownie Revel

One of the few golden afternoons of this summer shone last Saturday on the first Brownie Revel of the West Lincoln Division. By kind permission of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Carpenter of Winona, the Grimsby and Fruitland Brownies met at a perfect playground above the lake.

The Grimsby Brownies were conveyed in cars kindly loaned by Mr. Betzner, Mr. K. Baxter, Mrs. Wyatt Dick, Mr. Game, and Mrs. Fred Jones. The Fruitland Brownies met them at the farm.

Miss Victoria Fox, the Tawny Owl of Grimsby, assisted by Mrs. Dick, and Miss Mary Hendries, the Brown Owl of Fruitland, assisted by Miss Pat Lewis her Tawny Owl, had provided a well planned program. Around the Toadstool Ring the regular Brownie ceremony was observed, the law and promise recited, and the dance and song of each "Six" duly performed. Service Stars were awarded by Tawny Owl Pat Lewis to Fruitland Brownies, Beverley Mills and Beverley Peaks. Then while all eyes were tightly shut, and all wills concentrated on wishing for a specially nice thing to happen, Tawny Owl (Miss Victoria Fox) sprinkled gold-dust around the Toadstool carpet, a fitting prelude to the award of thirteen Golden Bars and three Golden Hands to Grimsby Brownies—the largest number ever earned in one year—Golden Bars to Mary Tomlinson, Elaine Tomlinson (Elves), Sheila Moberley, Sonia Culp, Doreen Hildreth (Fairies), Marian Marshall, Judy Baxter, Mary Jane Burgess (Gnomes), Mary Lou Marlowe, Agnes Stuart, Joan Harrison, Maxine Jones, (Pixies), and Barbara Hunter (Sprite). Golden Hands were awarded to Dorothy Game, and Ellen Yorke, (Elves) and Kay James (Pixie).

The Division Commissioner, after fastening on each badge, added a piece of the Gold-dust too. A Grand Howl was given and the Brownies scampered off to games in which the two packs played together and became friends. Supper followed and—all too soon—the "goodnight" Toadstool Ring. After a talk from the Division Commissioner the Fruitland fairies and elves taught their Grimsby playmates a new song: "Let me call you Brownie", "Let me play with you". Then God Save the King, Brownie Taps, and "Goodnight Brownies" brought the visit to Fairyland to an end, and motor cars and the Green Bus carried forty happy tired children back again into the world of reality.

I.O.D.E.

A Bake Sale will be held at the Gas Office on Saturday, June 16th.

The June Literary meeting of Lincoln Loyalist Chapter I.O.D.E. was held on Monday June 11th in the Chapter room.

Mrs. Morris, convener of Empire Study, gave a most interesting paper on the Province of Quebec. "Whether we should say 'French Canadians' or 'French speaking Canadians' is a question any number of orators have exhausted themselves defending one view or another. To those who dream of a completely unified Canada 'French speaking Canadians' sounds most satisfactory."

"But we must not fail to recognize some facts, of which the most important is that the French Canadians were a homogeneous race before the English came to Canada, and that nothing has happened since to alter that situation." "The French Canadian or Habitant is a carefree, happy person, living a very simple life, content to live as his father and forefathers did." "In many parts of Quebec the folk on the land still cling to the old way of life. The farmhouses and village homes are clean and neat, white-washed outside, and most of the living room furniture made by the farmer and his sons." "In one corner stands a spinning wheel, in another a loom."

Trinity W.A.

The June meeting of the W. A. of Trinity United Church was held at the home of Mrs. David Cloughley, Robinson Street South, on Thursday June 7th, with twenty-eight ladies present.

The meeting opened by singing Hymn 401, Onward, Christian Soldiers, followed by the Lord's Prayer in Unison. Psalm No. 90 was read by Mrs. Spencer Merritt.

Secretary and Treasurer's reports were read and approved, and the Secretary read letters of appreciation for flowers received.

The Beach Circle invited the W. A. to attend a picnic to be held at the home of Mrs. Raynor, Main St. East on June 21st. Our own picnic will be held on August 23rd.

A committee was appointed to put flowers in the church for the month of June.

Mrs. Wilkins, the quilt convener, gave the ladies quilt blocks to be sewn.

Meeting closed by singing Hymn 390, Work for the Night is coming, followed by the Mizpah benediction.

Mrs. Watt moved a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Cloughley for having the meeting at her home.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Fisher and Mrs. E. McAlmen.

Cubbing

Last Friday the boys really got down to work as a hike had been announced for Saturday. Bagheera and Baloo occupied the Pack with a game of Dodge ball while Akela had the Sixers away learning trail signs as the next day's work was to be on Observation.

After preparing themselves thoroughly the Sixers took charge of their groups and a lively game developed using these signs. The Winona group were present for their last visit and are now opening their Pack. Our best wishes for a successful group go to these members.

Friday, June 15th is Parents' night for our Pack and all parents and friends are cordially invited to attend at 7:45 p.m. and witness a regular Cub meeting.

The Observation Hike was an outstanding success from the Cub's standpoint. The Blue Six had their eyes fully opened and picked up the greatest number of trail signs (at had been laid the night before). Inner was the big event of course, pasted winners, scrambled eggs and fried potatoes appeased many hungry appetites. Marvin Robertson and David Young are well on the way to becoming cooks for the pack.

With the exception of a few old hands at the game, the favourite was, "Boy! Am I thirsty!" Games of "Pioneers and Indians" and "Find Akela's Camp" kept everyone occupied until time to come home.

Cubs certainly enjoy the out-of-doors and need plenty of it to give them an adventurous youth. The sing song that broke out as the boys wound along the trail in single file on the way home lends strength to that point.

Many men think a liquid asset is the puff you put in a cocktail shaker.

Tea was served and a very dainty lunch. The biggest surprise was a huge birthday cake, carried in with candles all brightly burning, and everyone singing "Happy Birthday to You," everyone enjoying it as well as Mrs. Book.

Mrs. Hermiston was very pleased such a large attendance of the church ladies came to her home. We all thanked her for the afternoon, and the tea party.

The September meeting will be held at the Manse, with the invitation from Mrs. McAvoy.

P.O. James M. Carlton, R.C.A.F., son of Mrs. Sarah Carlton, North Grimsby, returned home from overseas on Monday, after being in a German prison camp for two years. Peace is that period in a nation's history when the inhabitants have quit fighting a common foe and are fighting among themselves.

Action Dismissed As Frivolous

Also Vexatious, Says Judge Fuller In Striking Out Writ Of Summons Against Niagara Town.

(The Niagara Advance) The office of the solicitors of the Town of Niagara have notified Mayor L. W. McConkey that their action to strike out the Writ of Summons by Mr. Lancelot Servos and to dismiss his action, succeeded on Saturday morning, June 2nd before His Honour Judge Fuller, at St. Catharines.

Mr. Servos had issued a writ for $7,000 damages against the town for alleged grievances arising out of the sale of his property here for arrears of taxes. He also sought to secure $25,000 damages from Mr. O. J. Derbyshire and $15,000 from Mr. Charles Lailey, who subsequently purchased the property.

At the conclusion of the argument Judge Fuller delivered an oral judgment in which he held that the action of Mr. Servos was clearly frivolous and vexatious and disclosed no reasonable cause of action.

His Honour accordingly allowed the town solicitors' motion and dismissed the action with costs.

Mr. Servos, of course, has a right to appeal this judgment, but if he does not do so his action is at an end.

Band Starlings For Information

Vineland Horticultural Experiment Station in co-operation with National Parks Bureau, Ottawa and the Fish & Wildlife Service, Washington, D.C. will be banding a number of starlings this year. This is being done in order that possibly some useful information may be obtained as to the distances travelled by these birds, etc. As several growers are now operating starling traps it is expected that some of these birds will be caught in the Niagara district. It is hoped therefore that all banded birds caught will be reported to the National Parks Bureau, Ottawa giving the band number (the band may be sent instead), date of capture, approximate distance from the Horticultural Experiment Station, or other pertinent information. No postage is required on letters to the National Parks Bureau, Ottawa. Such letters may be sent free.

Should any grower wish to release any captured banded starlings, for further observation, he may do so. But in order to complete the records a full report with band number and when released should be sent to Ottawa. Very little is yet known about the starling and your contribution may be of material help.

At present no forecast can be made as to the starling situation for this fruit season. Local weather conditions seem to have an important bearing on crop damage. This observation however may be in order. Under normal weather conditions the starlings are not usually destructive to early cherries. This year because of the warm March weather the starlings nested early and the young are around approximately two weeks earlier in 1944. This means that they will probably flock earlier than usual and growers are advised to have their traps in readiness in anticipation of this and be prepared to protect their early cherries against starlings.

SPORTOLOGY

(By Bones Livingston, Sportologist)

Peach Queen's league wound up their 1945 activities on Wednesday night last in a blaze of beauty and glory. The girls held their annual feed-fest at The Pines, Stoney Creek and how they did devour that most excellent menu. And did they have fun? Yo-o-o-i-i-i. Can you imagine three lone, insignificant men in the midst of 88 of the finest girls in Canada. Mr. Baxter, K.C.; Little Whizzer Kammacher and Yours Truly. Three thorns surrounded by Roses. Trophy presentations and individual prizes were handed out. The girls elected Joyce Shelton as president for next year and she will be ably assisted by the new secretary, Bertha Hummel. . . . George and Helen Kammacher are having a reunion party at The Bowliway tonight for 20 of the girls that are still in our midst who in days gone by worked at the restaurant that was Famous For Food. The girls will be divided into teams and will play three games of bowls. Prizes will be presented and other features will be introduced throughout the evening. Two of the oldsters that will be present will be Beale Fisher and "Aunt Maggie" Hurst. . . . Fred Case has assumed the baseball mantle for Grimsby and is busily engaged weeding out players for a baseball team for Grimsby. He has plenty of material at hand, but is paying special attention to the youngsters with the idea of developing a real ball team within the next couple of years. More about this later. . . . Lee Smith won the War Savings Stamps on Saturday with 298.

Women Staff
Newspaper

Mike O'Leary is the managing editor of the Lakeshore Advertiser, a weekly newspaper in New Toronto, staffed entirely by women. Mike is a woman, too. Her given name is Leone, but she prefers Mike.

This is one of those few occasions Miss O'Leary makes to the male species. In getting out a paper with women providing all of the printed matter, she has acquired this philosophy: "Women are mighty good workers—more dependable than men."

The Advertiser is a bright, homey, 10 to 16-page weekly, with 6,000 or so subscribers.

As managing editor Miss O'Leary writes most of the editorials and shares the reporting with "my right arm"—Sheila Stringer. Third member of the staff is Viola Amos, who handles the business end, takes over-the-counter ads, sends out bills and so on.

Mike, slender, blue-eyed, boyishly feminine, subscribes to the so-called Ernie Pyle type of reporting; that is, names and more names.

"Get everybody's name in the paper," she smiles, "and they're bound to read it."

She likes the newspaper business, sometimes finds it nerve-racking, but goes along with the old saw about meeting so many interesting people.

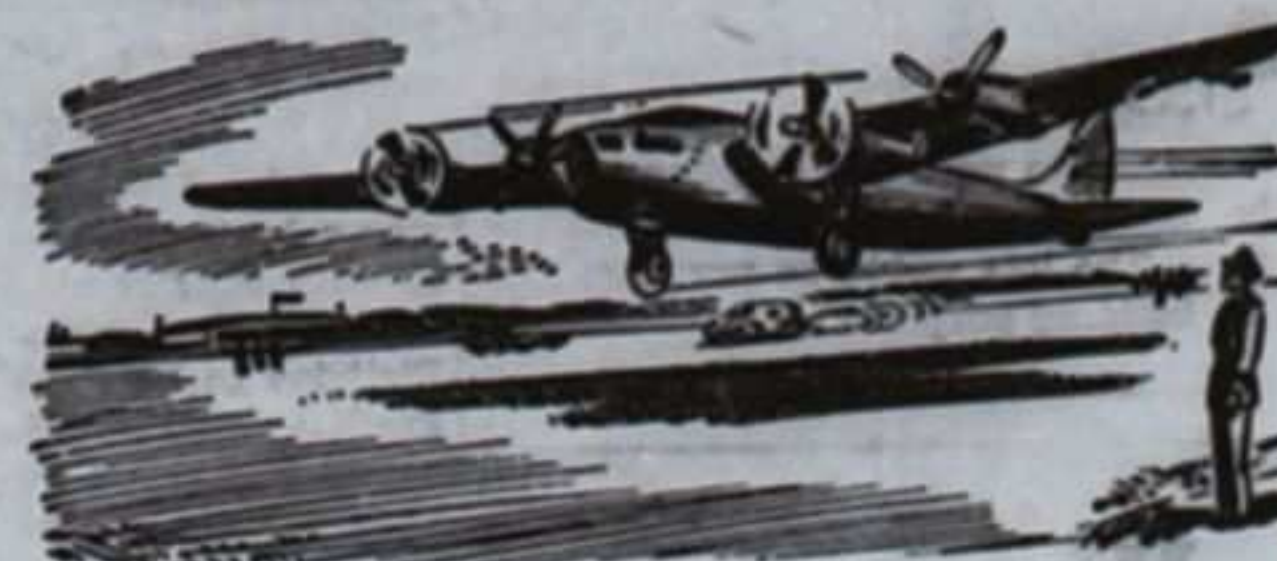

Brushing slender fingers through hair attractively cut short, she explained: "One day a fellow dropped in and asked if he could leave his liquor behind the filling cabinet and pick it up on his way home."

"And there was another fellow who phoned to say his wife was out of town," she continued, "He wanted to borrow $10 until she got back."

The Advertiser loaned the money, of course. That is part of its success as a homey, friendly relationship with its customers.

"People are dropping in all the time," continued Mike. "I guess people all over like to hang around newspaper offices. We try to keep all our communities interested—in Humber Bay, Islington, Alderwood, Mimico, Long Branch and of course, New Toronto. Putting newsworthy notes about them in our 'Lakeshore Locals' column helps."

The paper is one of several owned by the Charters Publishing Company of Brampton. Type-setting and actual publishing is handled by a mechanical staff at Brampton. But the little newsworthy notes Miss O'Leary cherishes are picked up mostly by Miss Amos.

The paper is published every Friday and always features the community angle on projects like Red Cross campaigns, the Victory Loan drive and similar ventures. People of the community are co-operative, too, says Mike, phoning in little items.

The classified ad section is equally local or, as the managing editor says "a bit of a riot."

The girls cover political meetings, refuse to "scalp" their stories from Toronto papers.

Mike took over the paper two years ago when the former editor, Ray Kennedy, joined the navy. She hired Miss Stringer more than a year ago.

Through The Rye

Everyone knows that imported Scotch comes from a distillery, but an idea may spread in British Columbia that the stuff originates in a gold mine. Before the war, Scotch sold at $3.25; now it brings $5.25 and is 30 per cent. underproof. The figures are from the Vancouver Sun which also points out that a flask of rye, now selling for $3.20, formerly retailed at $1.80 and a bottle of gin, once $1.75 now brings $3.20.

A citizen of British Columbia, notes The Sun, can buy three bottles of liquor retail for $11.70. Entire cost of the three, including material, transportation, insurance, handling, etc., is exactly $2.40. Out of the $11.70, the Ottawa government takes $4.30 and the B.C. government grabs $5—not bad for a business deal that started on a $2.40 basis.

Besides the taxation slogan, "Soak the rich," there is a rally call, "Soak the sons." The tax-collectors line up with rifles ready and shoot when they see the red of their noses. Truth to tell, the retail cost is rather staggering as well as the influence. In a very real sense it's the booze, rather than the goose, that lays the golden eggs these days.

Liquor goes to the head eventually but it goes to the pocket first. To get the kick in it, the consumer must "kick in" plenty himself. That may be why ever so many people of our time never feel called on to weep for hardships suffered by the pioneers, who had to locate a big nick every time they wanted another quart of the strongest.

Beamsville Taxes Paid Promptly

Citizens Came Forth With 95.26 Per Cent Of Total In 1944—Purchase New Dump Truck.

On account of the provincial elections falling on Monday, the regular session of Beamsville council was held on Tuesday evening last. The 1944 auditor's report was accepted and the necessary copies ordered printed. The report of the auditor showed that Beamsville ratepayers are not remiss in paying their dues to the corporation treasury. The report states that 95.26 per cent of 1944 taxes were paid.

Building permits were granted to Miss Eva Reid, R. C. Bowman, John Cunningham and Andrew Shearer.

A Dodge truck with combination dump body has been purchased at a cost of $2,563. It was decided to make some changes in the garbage collection days. Bad weather at week-ends often curtail collections, so an effort is to be made for an earlier collection on Thursday of each week. A number of complaints of dogs running at large was discussed. The council intends to see that the dog by-law is enforced. Salaries and accounts totalling $6,749.18 were passed.

The chief constable's report for the month of May showed two arrests, 12 investigations, four truancy complaints, enemy aliens investigated 13, medical health complaints one, theft two, convictions one.

Junior Farmers Church Service

The Lincoln County Juniors will hold a Church Service in Louth United Church about 3 miles West of St. Catharines on Sunday, June 17th, at 8:00 p.m.

A special speaker has been secured in the person of Chris. Houck of Niagara Falls who is an outstanding Boys' Work Leader.

The choir will consist of Juniors under the leadership of Mrs. Hazel Schwenker, organist. A vocal trio will be given by the Misses Ann Munro, Leone Hill and Joyce Dixon of St. Catharines who secured a very high standing at the recent Lincoln County Musical Festival.

Wm. Romagnoli, Beamsville, President of the Junior Farmers will be in charge of the service and Miss Florence Dalrymple, Smithville, the Girls' President, will read the lesson while the prayer will be made by Maurice Sleser of Calstar.

Eight Junior Farmers will act as ushers. Part of the offering will be earmarked to make a fund for the furnishing a unit for the new wing at the Niagara Peninsula Sanatorium. All County Juniors are invited to attend this service.

Utopia must be the place where a man's opinion is as important to others as it is to himself.
